

ABSTRACT

Methods and apparatus for linking business interests, which are particularly suited for linking business interests, such as equipment, real estate, technical expertise, product purchasers, material inventories, purchase agreements, intellectual property and investment capital via the vehicle of the Internet for the purpose of forming or growing a business.